His Baron Wins Heavy Harness
Race With Ease From Billie B.

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 2.—With the judging of the champion classes and an innovation in the shape of a race for heavy harness horses, the twentieth annual show of the Monmouth County Association closed at Hollywood Park today. It was nearly 7 o'clock before the final class was judged, but a majority of the spectators stayed until the end, for the most interesting classes were scheduled for late in the day.

Emil Seelig won a lion's share of the blues in the harness classes, although he did have to suffer defeat by A. W. Atkinson's bay mare Corinna, in the champion class which called for harness horses exceeding 15 hands. Corinna did not seem quite at her best, and while Baron is a trifle thick in the neck he has wonderful speed and style. Royal Victoria was shown in this collection, and it was a question in the minds of some whether she might not have won the tricolor without the judges going very far astray. Royal Victoria has quality and substance, possibly a trifle too much of the latter at the present showing.

In the class for smaller horses, Miss Anne Vancleave's Princess Shellagh was first choice. Shellagh made her initial appearance in the novice class on Wednesday. The Princess is one of the handsomest hackney naves that have come to our shores and should win in almost any collection. Emil Seelig's Flash, a rather plain looking horse, was reserve to the little mare.

Mr. Seelig's victories came in the pair classes, where he showed Baron and Sultan and Stars and Stripes. In the collection of pairs exceeding 15.2 hands, the team Baron and Sultan, which has been so successful all the week, was chosen over William Ziegler Jr.'s Sir Ziegler and the Pilot. As a team the Ziegler pair seemed to have all the better of it, for they are well matched pair of horses, while the Seelig pair looked more like "two horses with a pole between them" as one old horseman put it. Stars and Stripes had a walkover in the smaller class. They had not defeat earlier in the week at the hands of Mr. Ziegler's pair in the appointment class.

There was only one champion class for saddle horses, so the collection was a good one. There were Douglas Franks' Saffron Girl, My Butterfly from the Glen Hiddle Farm, Miss Atkinson's Nickel Plate and Patricia, Miss Anne Vancleave's Shellagh and Walter Hanley's Sir Evelyn. Every one conceded first honors to Nickel Plate before the class was called, but there was a surprise to every one when Mr. Butterly, who won everything last season but who has since been unplaced this week, looked to the spectators to be as good as ever as was, and that is pretty good. Then there was little Patricia, who has a most wonderful front and who was at her best in the champion class. It seemed a tossup to the spectators as to where the reserve ribbon should go, but the judges settled the question by handing it to Sir Evelyn, a peculiarly unconvincing thoroughbred who has seemed to impress the judges all the week.

The harness race was no race at all. It was simply two horses trotting around the track, for Emil Seelig's Baron could trot so much faster than Billie B. that he was never in danger of being overtaken. Emil Seelig was all equipped for the fray. He had removed his coat, tucked up his sleeves and donned automobile goggles, which he needed, for Baron is the fastest harness horse in the country. In some time, Billie B. was just at the halfway post as the Baron swept under the wire.

Miss Laura Harding, a ten-year-old human of about 100, won the riding and driving contest, where the ponies came in the ring in harness and were unharnessed and saddled by their young owners unassisted. The ponies themselves counted 40 to 50 per cent. Miss Harding showed Humming Bird, a Shetland pony on the Quaker Girl and little Miss Constance Regan, aged 6, handled her diminutive bay mare Joy. It is a mystery to every one how Miss Regan is able to retain her seat when Joy whistles her around corners, for Joy is fat and Miss Regan is not very tall.

There were two classes for officers' charges, one of which was a jumping class. Charles McDougall of the Second Cavalry, N. G. N. Y., won the first exhibition with his splendid brown gelding, but he was not in the running for the badge and the old favorite Justice, owned by Alden S. Blodgett, made a clean performance. Lieut. A. H. Platt's Chance third one and was placed second.

I. A. A. C. TEAM LOSES IN BOSTON.

Boston A. A. Relay Runners Show Heels to New York Quartet.

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—The Boston Athletic Association relay team, with Tom Halpin, former quarter mile champion, running in last position, defeated the Irish-American A. C. team with Mel Sheppard, also a former champion, running last in the feature event of the amateur part of the Scotch picnic at Caledonian Grove here today. In the professional programme the feature event, a ten mile race, went to Billy Quail of Alexandria Bay, N. Y. Ted Crooks of Fall River was second, Ed Fitzgerald of Australia, third, and George Hooley of Newark, fourth. A line crowd gathered for the games, and when Sheppard elected to start only in the relay, there was some little disappointment, for it was hoped that he and Tom Halpin would have a battle in the half mile run. Halpin won the event from scratch in an even two minutes, with Jimmy Burke, a Boston A. C. man, some distance behind him.

In the century dash Timothy Krohane of Quincy won, with M. A. Connor of the Boston A. C. in second position. Jimmy Powers, the junior mile champion, wasn't quite up to the task of catching Roy G. Brown of the Charlesbank Gymnasium, who had 110 yards. Powers passed all but Brown, and tried vainly to get him in the stretch. The time of the mile was 4:22.2-5.

Quail went out in front at the gun for the big professional race, with Fitzgerald trailing him. Crooks was content to rest in third position, allowing Fitzgerald to do the work of trying to get Quail. He didn't succeed and in the last few miles was pretty tired, allowing Quail to go up for the second prize. Hooley was a poor fourth. The time was 56 minutes 2 seconds.

Also William B. Anderson, Justice Victor J. Dowling, the Misses Dowling, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mueller, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. White, a party that had come from Seabright were Miss Mary Cutting Cunnock, Edward Shippen 2d, Daniel S. Riker, Mr. and Mrs. G. Foster Rawlins and Ellery Anderson.

Among others in the crowd that filled the boxes and lawn were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Regan, Fred Lewisohn, Congressman Thomas F. Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Deves, Mrs. Frank Gano, the Misses Helen and Lillian Gano, Edward Wassermann, Miss Renee Wassermann, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Eckstein, Mr. and Mrs. Park Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. M. Johnson Eats Cake On Day He Pitches

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Walter Johnson is pitching himself to glory on a diet of pudding, sherbet, cake and iced tea. The great Senator pitcher discoursed scientifically to-day on the whys and wherefores of his midday meal. "I don't believe in eating much," he said, "before going out to the ball park. Overloading the stomach is bad for a ball player. I like pudding and cake, particularly on a day when I am going to pitch. Sherbet or ice cream is soothing to the stomach, and so is iced tea. Then when I come back to the hotel I eat my heartiest meal of the day."

SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP GOES TO COOPERSTOWN

Meadow Brooks Beaten in Final Polo Game, Beadleston Proving Star.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 2.—A large assembly was attracted to the Point Judith polo fields this afternoon to witness the contests for the silver trophies. Cooperation won the senior championship ship match and Waldorf cup, defeating Meadow Brook by 5 to 4. C. P. Beadleston played star polo for the winning team.

The final match in the Army and Navy cups series was won by the Leopards, who beat the Army 8 to 7. The Army team's ponies slowed down at a critical stage in the last period, and the Leopards took advantage then and made a vigorous spurt. They scored four goals in their sensational finish. The lineup:
